

J. R. Allen Jr.

Named Wade Aid

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Thursday that John R. Allen Jr., an all-state football player in the twenties for old Oak Cliff High School, now Adamson, had been named an aid in the commercial fraud section of the District Attorney's office.

Allen has been a deputy the past four years in the District Clerk's office. He is a native of Dallas and a veteran of World War II.

Eugene Russell is an assistant district attorney who now heads the commercial fraud section. Clarence Bentley, who formerly headed this section, resigned this week to enter private practice.
