

Texas Manufacturers Plan Dallas Meeting

The Texas Manufacturers Association will hold its 37th annual conference Jan. 14-15 in the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

This year's conference has been planned to give Texas business and industrial leaders a look at important issues facing business in 1960.

The conference will open with sessions devoted to the current labor law picture.

Speakers for this part of the program include Phillip Landrum, congressman from Georgia; Leroy Jeffers, Houston labor law attorney; Joe Jenkins, member of the National Labor Relations Board, and John J. Gilhooley, assistant secretary for the Department of Labor.

Later sessions will be devoted to major issues confronting Texas.

These sessions will be presided over by C. C. Welhausen, president of Textan Leather Products Company and TMA vice-president for state affairs.

Speakers include Texas Gov. Price Daniel, Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education; DeWitt C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, and John Winters, director of the State Department of Public Welfare.

The national scene will be covered by Bruce Alger, Joe Kilgore, Jim Wright and Frank Ikard, all members of Congress from Texas.

Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, former Minister of Finance of Hungary and now director of international studies at Bradley University, will give the address at a Friday banquet.
